

Tallest Mountain in Europe

Mount Elbrus stands as the highest mountain in Europe. It reaches 18,510 feet (5642 meters) above sea level and resides in Russia.

Despite being situated in Russia, the mountain and its glaciers belong to the European continental plate.

FACTS ABOUT MT. ELBRUS

1. It is the highest mountain peak in all of Europe.
2. Elbrus has two summits!
3. Elbrus is a popular climbing destination.
4. Though dormant now, Mount Elbrus is a stratovolcano.
5. The slopes of Mount Elbrus are covered in glaciers.